👤 Summary

I'm a dedicated full-stack developer specializing in the MERN stack, passionate about crafting dynamic and user-friendly web applications. With a keen eye for detail and a strong foundation in both frontend and backend technologies, I strive to build seamless digital experiences that merge functionality with aesthetic appeal. I have hands-on experience in developing scalable applications, optimizing performance, and implementing intuitive UI/UX designs. Beyond coding, I love solving complex problems, experimenting with new technologies, and continuously refining my skills to stay ahead in the ever-evolving tech landscape
